STATEMENT

DECEMBER 28, 2020

Washington, D.C. has been our home for 106 years and we join with all of our guests, visitors, staff and neighbors in our concern and desire for everyone's health and safety.

We greatly appreciate the trust our guests have placed in Hotel Harrington over the years and we wish to continue to earn that trust. While we cannot control what happens outside of the hotel, we are taking additional steps to protect the safety of our visitors, guests and employees.

Hotel Harrington will be closed on January 4, 5 and 6. We will not be accommodating guests, with the exception of our long-term residents who call our hotel home. Refunds will be made for all pre-paid reservations. Notifications are being sent to all reservation-holders beginning today.

I'm sure he thinks we are traitors. And if he tries to burn shit our shit down, we should return his actions in kind. But right now he is just denying services, so we should deny him services.

No, just parasites on our society who pay to live at a hotel in DC to be close to the center of power so they can increase their parasitism

“ Never thought I would look to India for ingenuity

You must not pay attention to IQ statistics.

permalink parent save report block reply

India's average IQ is very low, in the 80's. The difference is that India is multiracial and has had a caste system for a very long time. While the average is very low, there are some relatively high IQ ethnic groups that have been mostly protected by the caste system. Even with a low average IQ, because of sheer numbers they will also have some high intelligence outliers. Indians which have migrated to work in high-paying tech positions or business are obviously going to be outliers of intelligence in their own country. There's a reason why most of India is still a chaotic dump despite having a lot of smart people. The average is low but there is a large intelligence disparity or standard deviation. It's very hard to maintain a society when a large segment of the population are morons. India is almost the opposite of China in that respect. China has a high average IQ and relatively low standard deviation which means there are very few people of exceptionally low intelligence and most people are above average relative to other countries. That means low crime and a highly ordered society.

I pay attention to IQ stats like I watch the price of gold. The price of gold isn't going up because it's more "valuable." It's because the value of the dollars it takes to buy it is going down; it takes more dollars to buy the same amount of gold.

Analogous to that, IQs aren't going up over there, ours are being driven down. It's also why I am not the one calling them from "Microsoft" asking for remote access to their computer to pay overdue "IRS" bills with Apple iTunes cards. And for the time being, even if I spot them San Fran hobos, they still have more people shitting on streets.

Look up Ganges River photos at your own risk.

For those that don't, it's a sacred river that they throw uncle Apu into when he dies then they bathe and do all their toiletries in the same water.

I wonder what they'd do if they got a flood of reserve's for the 7th.

CAUSE WE ARRIVE ON THE 6TH- BUT WE AIN'T LEAVING ON THE 6TH.

We rented buses ..we are not going to be able to bring a ton of camping gear...buses may even leave that night..most of us would be stranded in DC with no rations or way back...im bring a tent and sleeping bag anyway..but food gonna be a problem with as many as may show up in DC...we are gonna have to organize a way to have food for million or so folks who probably won't bring enough food for a day or 2 at best

Anyone going with intent to stick it out no matter what should look into dried food for backpacking/hiking. Shouldn't be a big deal for anyone to carry their own food supply for a few days.

1 I'm pretty sure that's an admission of discrimination that opens them up to about a thousand discrimination claims

But proving and choosing who is allowed to stay - with the supposed criteria being length of stay - so what happens if one of us Pedes wishes to book a long-term extended stay? Does that mean they will honor the reservation?

If not, that blatant discrimination against someone for their political beliefs unless they can establish WHY they are choosing those specific dates associated with a certain political group's need for accommodations.
